GOOD, BUT TOO LATE.

Former Governor Joseph Folk of Missouri, billed for stage purposes as the "Apostle of Reform," addressed a large audience in Reno Wednesday night and told his hearers some pertinent facts that have a direct bearing on the state of Nevada. While there were a number of things spoken by this "professional reformer" with which we cannot concur—and for that matter with which the people of the state of Missouri did not hold, they having repudiated him after one term in the chair at Jefferson City—nevertheless he told some truths that should strike home to the hearts of those Renos who are forever waiting against their city being slandered.

Mr. Folk said: "The cry that you are slandering a city or state in revealing evil or corruption reminds me of the old woman. She would never sweep out her house for fear the neighbors would find out that it needed to be swept."

"Grafters always regard an assault on them as a slander of the city or state. The cry 'you are slandering the city' and 'you are hurting business' is the cry of the grafter."

"When you stop the practice of granting divorces while you wait, you will do much to have this state take the rank it deserves among the states of the Union."

Mr. Folk might have appeared in Reno to good advantage several months ago and given utterance to these remarks while the Reno merchants and the Washoe county delegation to the legislature were "framing up" to hold for Reno her beloved "divorce colony." Had he made his speech at that time the metropolis of this state might have refrained from flaunting so brazenly her sign: "Hymenal Misfits Welcome." However, it is doubtful if his words would have had any effect. They would most likely have fell upon deaf ears. The God of Greed predominates in Reno and would undoubtedly have overpowered the doctrine of the former Missouri governor.

It is a noticeable fact that President J. E. Stubbs of the University of Nevada, the institution most hurt by the foundry for the altering of misnomers, was the man who introduced Mr. Folk at the meeting. Mr. Stubbs is now strong against the Reno "stink-pot," now that the trouble is done, now that the law has been allowed to stand. But, before the legislature took action—at least failed to take action—on matters pertaining to divorce, he was silent as the grave. Possibly the appearance of Mr. Folk when too late to be of any particular benefit, except in a financial way to the speaker, was prearranged. Who can tell?

WHY PARDON BANKERS?

According to press dispatches, President Taft, now on a southern trip, is considering the pardoning of John R. Walsh, Chicago bank-wrecker, now serving a five-year's term in Fort Leavenworth prison, also Charles W. Morse, New York bank-wrecker, now serving a fifteen-year's sentence in the federal prison at Atlanta. Morse has served a trifle over one year and Walsh has served less than one-third of his five-year sentence.

Each of these men wrought damage that it is almost impossible to estimate in dollars and cents. They virtually stole the savings of "widows and orphans." They forced to the shoals of bankruptcy many small businessmen, whose means were limited to such an extent that their all was in the wrecked banks. True, Morse repaid the money that was lost in his frenzied finance operations—but did that aid the misery and suffering that had previously been caused? In the case of Walsh, instead of making efforts to reimburse the depositors the money was expended in a successful effort to keep the "Newsboy Banker" out of prison for several years. When, however, the law finally did reach him it was only with a five-year sentence, whereas some teller in his bank, who had embezzled a few thousand dollars would probably have been "sent-up" for ten, fifteen or twenty years. The teller would have been compelled to serve the majority of his sentence. And so it should be with Morse and Walsh. They committed an unpardonable crime and should pay the penalty. Such short sentences, but partly served, will tend to prove an incentive to other crooked financiers who are in a position to wreck institutions that are purported to be organized for the safeguarding of the funds of the common people.

ADVERTISE WHAT?

"Give publicity to the state of Nevada"

says the Reno Gazette. We rise to a point of order, the industries of Nevada are singular not plural; however, the industry commences plural and ends singular. That is to say the only industry of this state is the one on which Reno has a monopoly, the matrimonial cancer cure. Regarding advertising it would appear to the Bonanza that Reno is getting just about all the publicity she can stand along this line, while the state is getting considerable more than is desired at any place outside of Washoe county.

Every effort is being made throughout the state for the upbuilding of Nevada, and Reno instead of joining in this effort, is consistently and persistently working against it. Just as fast as some good work is accomplished elsewhere Reno is to the front with publicity of a most undesirable nature. Divorcements and their consorts succeed, apparently to the edification of Reno, in implanting on this state an indelible black-eye.

Publicity is a mighty fine thing. It has worked wonders in numerous states throughout the Union—but not the kind of publicity that Nevada is receiving today through the Reno "colony." True, Nevada is talked of throughout the civilized world, but the talk is not of a nature that will tend to aid the state in the least, except that it will bring to Reno the world's matrimonial derelicts. The undesired elsewhere are undesired in Nevada and the sooner Reno comes to her senses on this question the better it will be for the entire state.

"SOAPY JOE" AND EMMA GOLDMAN.

A social function of an unusual character is reported in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, notwithstanding the fact that the host as well as the guests depreciated publicity.

We quote from the historian of this select affair:

Emma Goldman, queen of anarchy, and Joseph Fels, millionaire single tax advocate, sat opposite each other at a dinner given by Councilman Frank P. Crunden at Cicardi's restaurant to a few of his intimate friends and prominent society folk. Crunden denied he was the host, and said it was nobody's business if he did have Emma Goldman and Fels with him, but the head waiter said Crunden would pay the bill.

Fels is reported to have said in the early afternoon he would not attend a dinner with Emma Goldman.

"We want you to sit at one end of the table and Emma Goldman at the other," is said to have been suggested to him.

"I wouldn't consider it," he is said to have replied.

Nevertheless, Miss Goldman and Fels were both there, sitting almost side by side.

A few of those present declined to give their names, stating they thought it improper for the public to know they were there. Mr. Crunden was especially desirous that the news be suppressed.

It is difficult to understand the preliminary scruples of Fels, sometimes known as "Soapy Joe," says the San Francisco Call. There should be a natural bond of sympathy between him and Miss Goldman. Both aim to revolutionize the established order, although they may differ as to means.

Fels is the millionaire soapman who is financing a single tax propaganda. He recently visited San Diego, but signally failed to impress the people of that city with his missionary labors. Now, if he had gone a little way farther and got across the border he might have supplied the much needed funds to finance the Utopia which the insurrectos promise to create in Lower California. There Mr. Fels would find "Wild Bill" Hatfield of Kentucky and his automatic pistol established as part of the utopian outfit. Hatfield is not more dangerous to society than Emma Goldman. While the soap holds out to burn, etc.

DROOP YOUR HEADS.

Within the near future the legislature of the state of Nevada will adjourn. Its members—those with sufficient nerve—will return to their home with a full realization of what they have done; or to be more correct, what they have NEGLECTED to do. Upon leaving the train at the old home station they will in all probability have their hats well pulled down over their eyes to hide the blush of shame that must arise in their cheeks when they see Bill Smith or Bob Jones on the depot platform. With them alone lies the blame for this state of affairs. There was the opportunity to accomplish much, they have accomplished nothing. Like Esau, they have sold their birthright for a mess of pottage. Pay-day has been the one big overwhelming event with all of them. Pay-days they have had. The voters have paid the price for sending them to Carson City. What have the voters and taxpayers received in return? One simple word answers the question—NOTHING!

Provided the home town fails to turn out with brass band and a street parade to welcome home the townsman who has failed in his duty to his constituents it would be well for the returning prodigal son to emit no wail of dissatisfaction. He should be well pleased that the "gang" is not on hand with over-ripe vegetables and eggs. They will not be, of course, the high cost of living makes this out of the question. The members of the legislature are lucky.

During the hours of darkness, while all power was shut off, both for lighting and mechanical purposes, the Bonanza was the only newspaper in southern Nevada that was in a position to "deliver the goods." While the service was not perfect on the first day of the trouble, all obstacles were soon surmounted and the Bonanza supplied its patrons with all of the important news.

GHOST WALKING
TODAY IN MINES
AROUND TONOPAHBELMONT DISASTER REDUCES THE USUAL LARGE
PAY-ROLL

Joy will reign supreme in Tonopah tonight, and for several nights to come. The reason? This is the tenth of the month, the day on which the "ghost walks" for those men who earn their living by searching for gold and silver for the different mining companies located in the vicinity of Tonopah.

While the pay-roll for February is not quite so large as usual, owing to the disaster in the Belmont mine of February 23rd, nevertheless it is of sufficient extent for the boys to make merry. It will probably amount to about $200,000 to $225,000.

EXPLOSION WIPES OUT
TOWN IN WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE, March 10.—Pleasant Prairie, a Wisconsin town not far removed from Kenosha, together with its 150 inhabitants is reported as being almost entirely wiped out by two explosions at the Laffin-Mand powder mills at a late hour last night.

Advices to the Western Union from Salem, Wisconsin, says calls have been received for assistance. All available physicians and nurses are being hurried to the town in a special train which is being prepared at Chicago. The Western Union Telegraph company at once made preparations to rush a corps of telegraph operators and repair men to the scene.

Pleasant Prairie is about six miles north of the Wisconsin-Illinois state line, and is about ten miles from Kenosha. Officials of the last town procured automobiles and other vehicles and rushed to the relief of victims of the explosions.

COUTURE BILL HAS BEEN PASSED
BY ASSEMBLYONE OF FIRST ACTS OF LOWER HOUSE IS TO PASS A RE-LIEF BILL.

CARSON, March 10.—One of the first acts of the assembly yesterday was to pass the relief bill presented for the benefit of L. G. Couture, who asked to be reimbursed $2400 for services rendered the state while assisting the commission in charge of the mineral exhibit in Paris in the year 1889. Instead of the amount asked for the assembly following the recommendation of the special committee that investigated the claim, allowed Couture the sum of $936, the equivalent to the amount expended by him, and making no allowance for salary.

The house also passed assembly bill No. 157, by Campbell of Washoe, providing a penalty for the conviction of persons who encouraged or caused contributory dependency, or delinquency on the part of children.

RENO MINISTER IS SEVERELY ARRAIGNED

CARSON, March 10.—Yesterday afternoon the senate took from the table the resolution that had been sent to the legislature by Rev. Mr. Kelly of Reno and referred them to the Washoe delegation. Later the Washoe delegation reported against the Kelly resolutions and presented a set of its own, in which the Reno minister was severely arraigned. The resolutions took "hypocrisy" for their theme and referred emphatically to marriages between Japs and white girls. These resolutions were also tabled.

PrintingNOT MARRIED AGAIN
DECLARES GLOBE TROTTER

NEW YORK, March 10.—Mrs. Elizabeth Cochran Seaman, famous many years ago as "Nellie Bly," the globe trotter, and who is now owner and president of the Iron Clad Manufacturing company of Brooklyn and of the American Steel Barrel company, emphatically denies the story sent out from Minneapolis a few weeks ago to the effect that she had been married and deserted all in the course of three weeks.

She declares she never heard of Mrs. Albert Dundee, that she has not married a second time and that her husband has not deserted her. Mrs. Seaman says she invented and perfected what is known as the iron clad barrel, the first steel barrel to be used in the United States, and has been managing her companies for the last ten years. She has not been in Minneapolis for fifteen years and has not been out of the state of New York for two years.

BELMONT STOCK HITS HIGH
MARK SINCE STRIKE OF 1909

For the first time since the strike of December, 1909, Belmont stock sold on the San Francisco exchange today for $625. Two hundred shares changed hands at this figure, indicating that the market is in a most healthy condition and that securities in this section are being sought. Local brokers are most optimistic over the outlook at the present time and predict a steadily advancing market.
